

My To-do App

This is the home page when you open the app

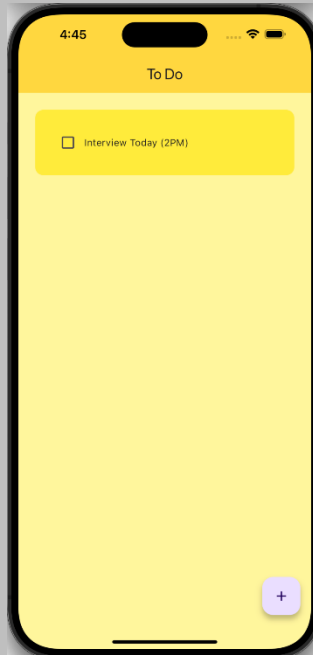

At the bottom right corner there is a plus button that allows you to add a task to the list

When you click on the plus button, a bubble pops up in the middle of the screen allowing you to write/add whatever you want onto your To-do list

Once you're happy with your choice, you can click the "Save" button (left purple button) to add the item onto your To-do list or you can click "Cancel" to get back to the home page without having added anything to your list

I chose to add "Interview Today (2PM)" onto my list by clicking "Save"

As you can see, my item was added onto the To-do list at the very top

There's an empty square box to the left of the item to indicate that it has not been completed/finished yet

Once I am finished with an item on my To-do list, I can click on the empty square box, which will cross the item

Here, you can see that my item has been crossed because I have finished the interview and clicked on the empty square box (the interview went really well 😊 )

If you accidentally click on a square box and cross an item from the list that hasn't been completed yet, you can click on the filled square box to remove the line crossing your item and it will also return back to an empty square box

If I don't want the item on my To-do list anymore, I can swipe the item to the left and a big red button will appear to the right of it

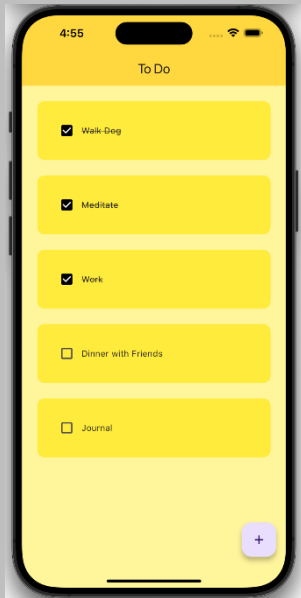

After swiping left on the item, you can see that a big red button with a trash can icon appeared to the right of it. This gives me the option to delete it from the To-do list completely.

After clicking on the red button, the task should disappear from my To-do list

As you can see, the item has been deleted and we are back to an empty To-do list

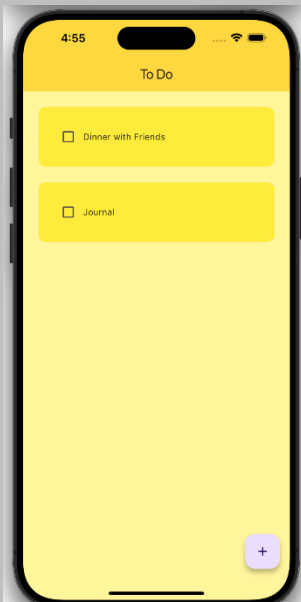

Now, let's fill in our Todo list with some items I have planned for today!

It looks like I added a few more tasks onto my To-do list and according to the list, I have already walked my dog, meditated, and have gone to work (Hurray!)

Now, all that's left for the day is to go to dinner with my friends and journal before going to bed

Since we have completed three out of the five items from the list, let's delete them so we only see the tasks that still need to be completed before the day is finished!

Here we have it, only two items left to complete before the day is finished!

---

Thank you for taking the time to view my To-do App
- Bobby